課程簡介

Over-crowding in the ED is a nearly universal problem across the world' s Emergency Departments.

The International Federation for Emergency Medicine ran a campaign against over-crowding starting December 2022. Since the campaign and information-gathering from member organisations (national and regional societies of emergency medicine) IFEM has explored the root causes, the effects on staff morale, the issues that many countries have in common and shared some solutions, both small-scale and larger.

This information will be shared and discussed.
